

America is about freedom. Unfortunately corporate influence is crushing that spirit and replacing it with oppression and greed.

How many stations does Clearchannel need to own? How many do they need to own in each market?

The FCC rulings under this administration have severely damaged the integrity of the American Media. We now get fewer opinions from fewer sources. The influence of special interests groups like the National Association of Broadcasters represent the greedy corporations like Clearchannel but certainly do not represent the views of most American citizens who crave freedom and choice in every aspect of their lives.

This is our heritage. It is our tradition and our birthright.

In the current political climate, however, that is all for sale if the price is right. How many Clearchannel executives are Pioneers and Rangers?

The NAB now wants congress to limit my satellite radio coverage.

Why?

Other than greed and selfishness what good does it do to limit my access to information? Are we not a capitalist society? XM Radio provides a service that I want. We have agreed on a fair price for this service and I, as an AMERICAN, can not understand why my government would want to intervene in this harmless and mutually beneficial transaction. Unless, of course, you are in the back pocket of Clearchannel and the NAB.

You represent the people and your decisions greatly impact the future of our nation. Free exchange of information is a vital cornerstone of our democracy. Try to remember that when you sell us all out.

Also remember this- you will also be subject to the limitations that you impose. In short, you'll have to listen to their formatted garbage with the rest of us. If you've spent any time listening to commercial radio lately then you know how bad it is. There are only a few formats that are profitable and they all feature about 20 minutes of commercials each and every hour. The airwaves were originally seen as a public service vehicle not a tool for corporate profit.

Your organization exists to insure that principle. Limiting access to information that people are willing to pay for is not the American way.

Thanks,
